The Garden Gazette

Saturday's garden news — Fictional example

First tomato spotted!

On Saturday, Maya found the first tomato on the family plant. It was still green and about the size of a marble. Dad helped her count three more tiny tomatoes.

Picture and caption

The first tomato is still green.

Little interview

Reporter: What surprised you?
Maya: “The tomato is smaller than my thumb!”

Next time

Will the tomatoes change colour? Maya plans to look again next week.